

GRAPHICAL WEATHER FORECAST VIEWER

The on-line Network programming class that I teach studied web technologies such as the HTTP protocol and the HTML file format. So, the class wrote an extension to check the validity of a zip code.

Since this came out of a class programming project, the pages that describe the program reference a programming assignment and go into much more detail than some may want. At this time, I cannot post the program with the zip code validation, because it is an open assignment.